A DAY IN THE LIFE OF THE HEADMASTER

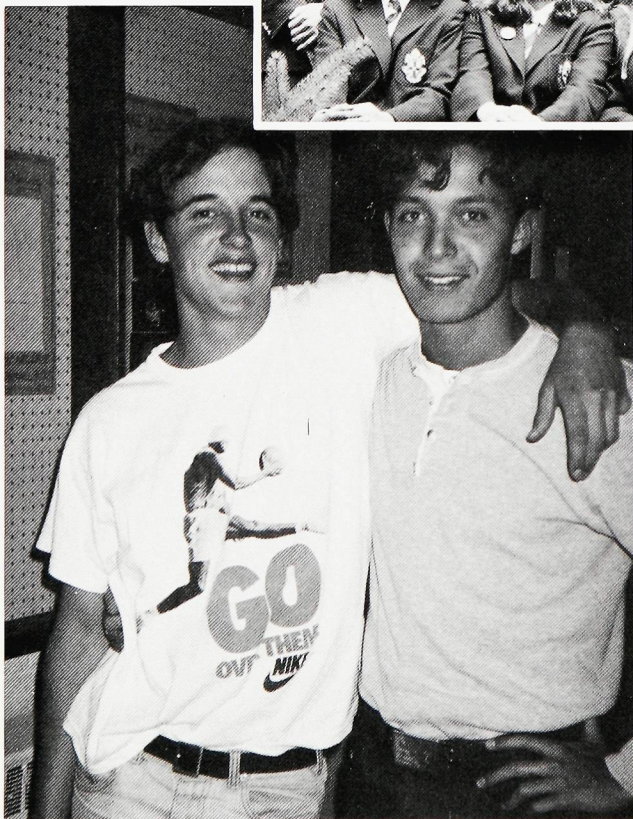

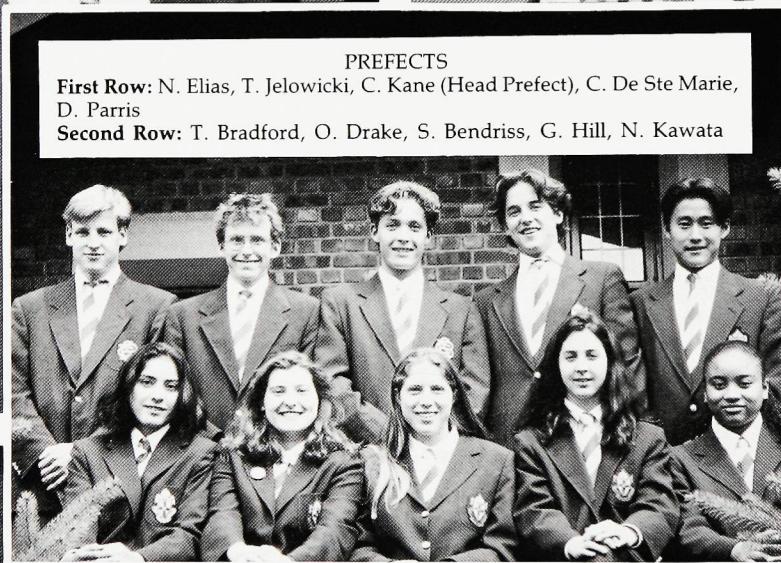

Tuesday, January 4th, 1994.

- 7:00 AM Showered, shaved, dressed and ready to go, I open the door to my office and review the plan for the day ahead.
- 7:30 AM Breakfast in Ross Hall (nice name that!). Students and teachers are everywhere:
 "Hi. How was your holiday?"
 "Great, but too short. What about you . . ."
 "The same . . ."
- 7:50 AM Chapel: Hymn 282, a reading from Inscape, a prayer for Bruce.
- 8:05 AM Announcements:
 I welcome everyone back for the winter term.
 Special welcome to new students.
 Another special welcome to new exchange students.
 Birthdays, Team meetings, club meetings,
 "Have a good day!"
- 8:25 AM En route to my office, two teachers, when asked how their holiday had been, replied that it was too short. "Christmas holidays must be extended so that we can feel truly refreshed . . ."
- 8:30 AM Session with veteran Head's Secretary, Cynthia Drew, to tie up loose ends of crises past, and to check the calendar to anticipate what might lie ahead.
- 9:20 AM Administrators' Meeting:
 Preliminary discussion on budget options.
 Adjustment to punishment - one week's gating to follow suspension: discuss.
 Timetabling and calendar update: discuss.
 Meeting runs through Break, and into the next class.
- 10:35 AM I am late for my Form VII Political Science class. Still I deliver a brilliant explanation of the "pecking order of the British Peerage System."
- 11:20 AM I slip over to the gym and change into shorts and a sweat shirt, and spend fifteen minutes lifting weights in the Weider Wing. (I blow out the cobwebs to make room for more.)
- 11:50 AM On my way through the Student Centre, I watch helplessly as a student drops and breaks a thermos bottle in the Mail Room.
- 11:52 AM I'm off to Ross Hall for an early lunch, but get intercepted by three senior students who rush up to complain that the winter holiday was too short - it must be extended. I notice that there is a dominant thought to this day . . .
- 12:20 PM Back in my office going over some correspondence, I look up and see a few flakes of snow floating down. 25 centimeters will follow.
- 12:57 PM & 1:04 PM
 First a teacher, then a Dining Hall Committee Member came in to complain how a group of students had run down the stairs at full speed to be first in the lunch line.

I make a note to mention it to David Turner and return to my correspondence.

- 1:10 PM A senior science student pauses to discuss the renovations still going on in the Pattison Building. The student can't decide if she is more frustrated that the work wasn't finished during the holidays than pleased that the work is finally being done . . . I return to my correspondence.
- 2:00 PM The first snowball of the year comes flying through the door outside my office. The laughter stays outside as the students choose to enter the school by a route different from the one taken by the snowball! I make a note to mention snowballs-close-to-buildings to David Turner and return to my correspondence.
- 2:05 PM A noisy, laughing group of students come tumbling through the door, one of whom is white from head to foot, and (thank God) laughing as hard as the rest. They see me watching from my desk, and make a feeble attempt to brush off the snow and settle down. I return to my correspondence.
- 3:00 PM The bell signals the end of classes for the day, and I switch from my correspondence to reports from the Ministry of Education. I regret that there are no school games being played so that I might legitimately leave the office and still be doing my job!
- 5:30 PM The Plantation beckons and I prepare to walk home through the snow, but before I get out the door, the phone rings. It is a Ross House parent who apologizes profusely; she is unable to pick up her son at the appointed time, and would I track him down, inform him, and keep him busy until she gets here. I am on my way to do at least part of this when another student, a second former, stops me as he wants to know if I know where his saxophone might be. Fighting the temptation to disabuse him of the notion that "Headmasters know everything . . ." I go with him to the theatre where he had last seen it before the holiday, and there it is.
- 5:40 PM I walk to Centre Hall to deliver the message, making a mental note of several burnt or missing light bulbs along the way. I find the patient Ross House boy and tell him he'll have to be more patient. I disappear into the snow.
- I suppose it was as typical as any day at BCS. The students rushing to lunch was "exuberance unbound"; the snowball that whizzed past my office just might have been an accident; the broken thermos bottle certainly was an accident; and somehow, somewhere, we will have to find more teaching days so that the winter holiday can be a bit longer. Tuesday, January 4th, 1994: a day in the life of the Headmaster and no crisis - but then, it's only the first day of term.

HOUSES

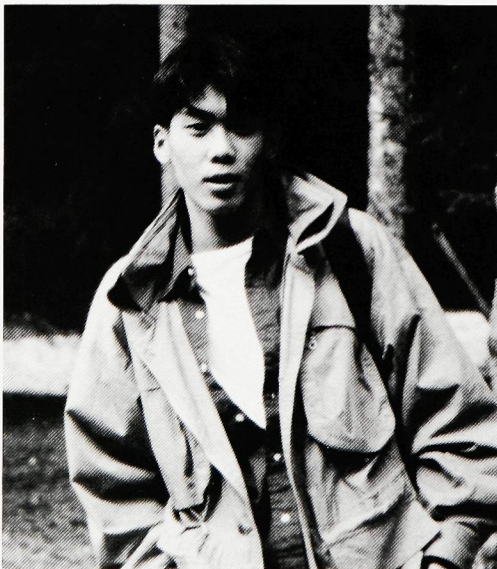

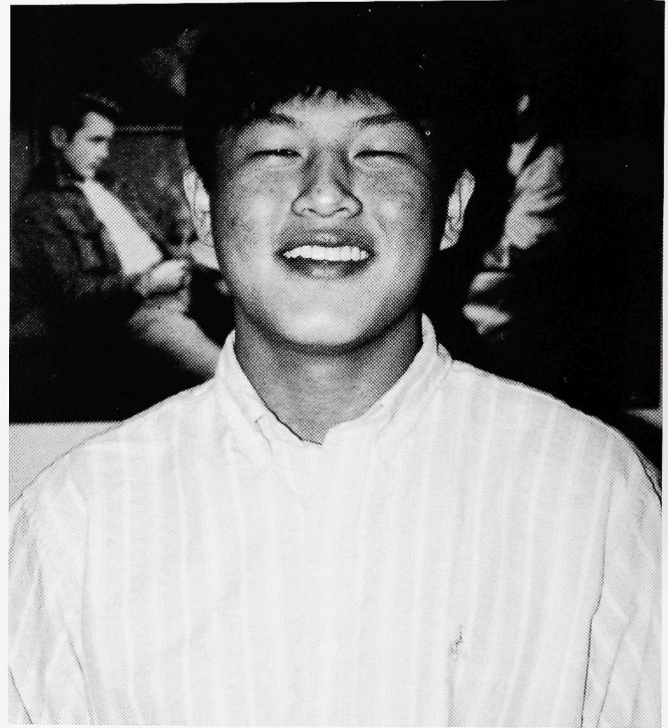

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF CHAPMAN HOUSE

Chapman will be found by the rest of the student body. Right! Anyone with a mere moitie of their marbles could readily concede that such a concept could only exist in the minds of people whose childhoods were spent in wicker baskets, and who grow up to be muggers, dog thieves, and insurance salesmen.

Chapman housers' cache will, in all likelihood never be found by their peers. So we've culled together some racial slander for your reading pleasure. Just kidding! - Hey Sam, roll the daily classics will ya!?

For those who lead unexciting and uneventful lives, we have merely stated their names in order to acknowledge their presence. Filipe Antonio da Silva Baptista, Luc Basompierre, John Biron, Dominique Brown, Saquib Chowdhury, Abdallah Dandachi, George Easton, Kay-Ho (Kelvin) Kwan, Won-Sang Lee, Simon Lo, Chung-Yin (Thomas) Low, Yin-Cheng (YC) Lu, Yu-Jen (Steve) Pan, Richard Petrilli, Albert Photiou, Robert Veillon, and Yip Hon (John) Wong.

Guess that's all boys.

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF GLASS HOUSE

Mr. and Mrs. Brass are keeping a close eye over their angels and this is what they observe. Silke is checking the billet list, Marissa is reporting theft, Elin is hard at work and Julia G. is out on a PL. Katherine Kwan just arrived, Sandy is learning judo, Katy C. is taking care of business and Sharifa has gone shopping . . . Carolyn came to a house meeting, Ali and Ginnie are putting drops in their eyes. Chris W. is having a party in her room, SHH . . . Lisa L. is bringing up the goods to Chris's party. Katie G. is killing her fish, while Julia B. and Piper plan their escape routes. Nat and Julie W. were last seen at PV, and Meredith is bed-ridden with an unknown disease. Marisol is asking "Can you Spell that?", Tara is doing up her belt and Isabelle M. is curled up in a ball on the balcony. Desiree killed someone by looking at them and Christie is starring in Jane Fonda's new video. Sapna is on the phone, long distance to Newfoundland, Catherine has gone down South and Lisa F. is blaring "Shiny Happy People".

It's time to lock up, Darlings.

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF GRIER SOUTH

It's 5:30 in the morning. Kevin works feverishly at his History bonuses while Catalin lectures his sleeping floormates on how he was bio-engineered and not born. Catalin then demonstrates his Ninja skills by smashing a lamp with a broomhandle. Jahny wakes up at 6:30 and watches the Sports channel. At 7:00, he combs his hair while Naoki giggles. Alexis listens to Cannibal Corpse while Gary listens to his unique music. At 7:25, Mr. Bray calls "out of the house." Bila decides over breakfast who the top women of the day are while Sammy and Pok Mo listen to music.

School lets out for the day. Marlon and Santiago look for more things they have in common while Khalid goes off on a Squash tournament. Henry and Milton think up excuses for being late for wherever they are supposed to be. Jean searches in vain for someone who would like his "claque." Jason blinks incessantly and Pablo tells him to stop. 8:00 p.m: Prep! Alex complains that his laps are unfair before getting into a fight with Daniel. Finally, LIGHTS OUT!

First Row: Mr. P. Kandalft, Mr. J. Slocombe, K. Jaffer, Mr. J. Bray, K. Bekure, Mrs. J. Detchon, Mr. R. Ross, Mr. V. Devries
Second Row: T. Bradford, N. Murayama, S. Moctezuma, P. Perez, J. Bouchard, M. Campos, J. Ragueneau, M. Pecinovic, G. Hill

Absent: B. Miatudila

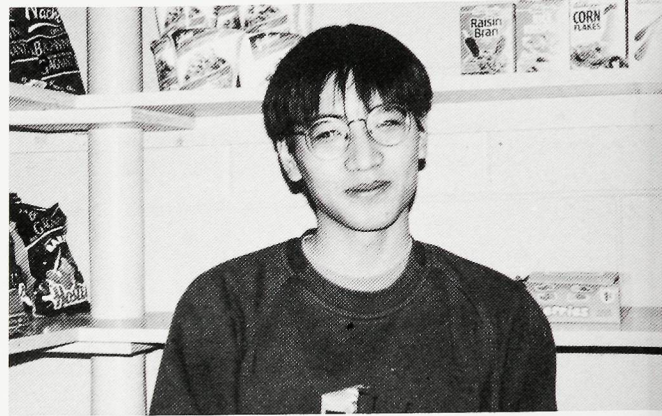

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF MCNAUGHTON HOUSE

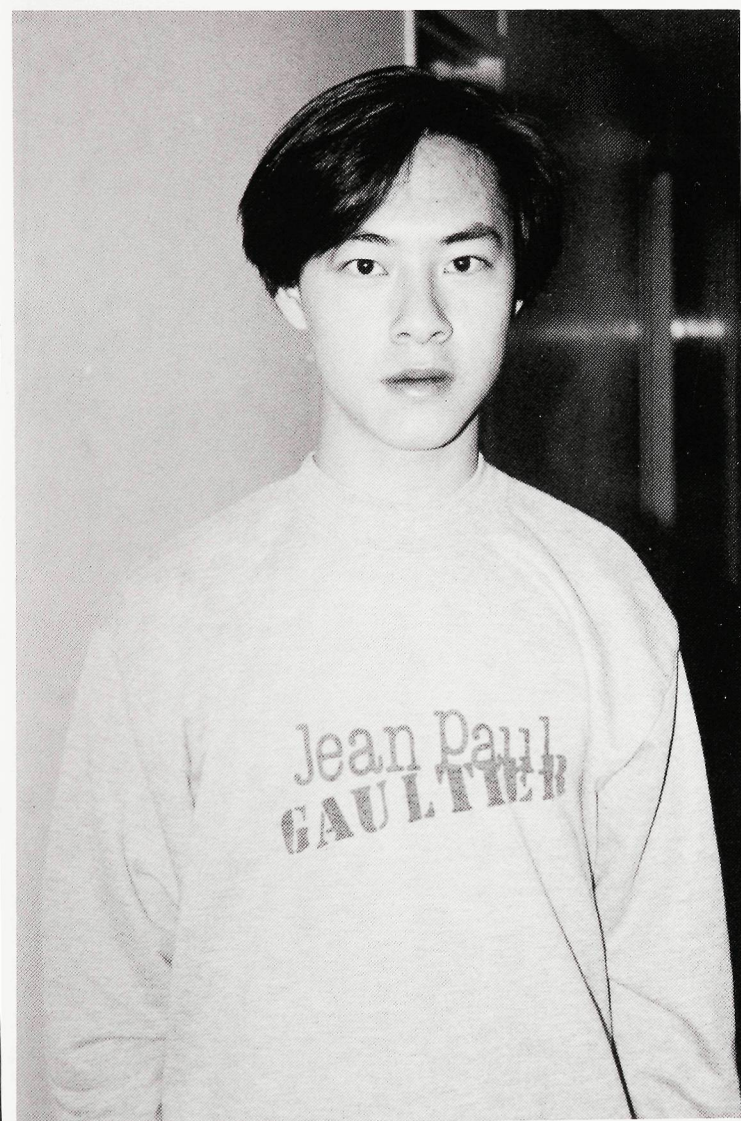

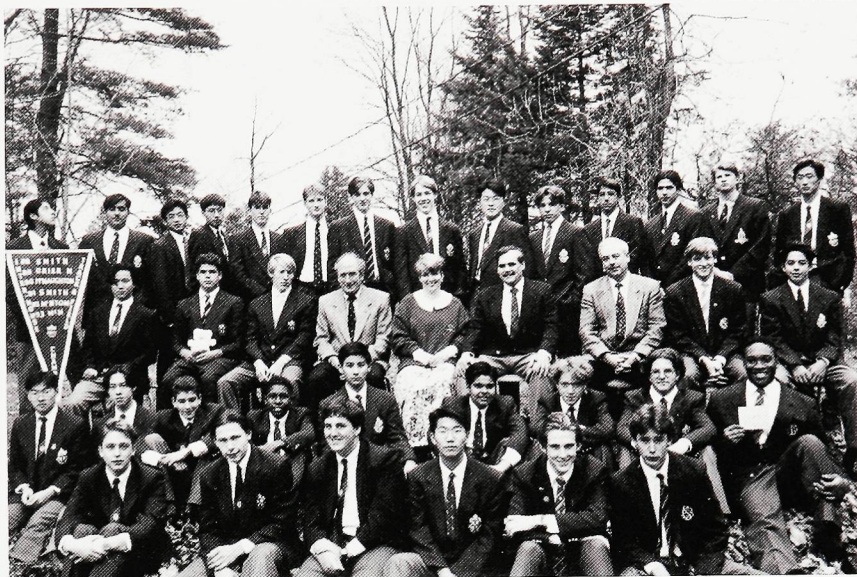

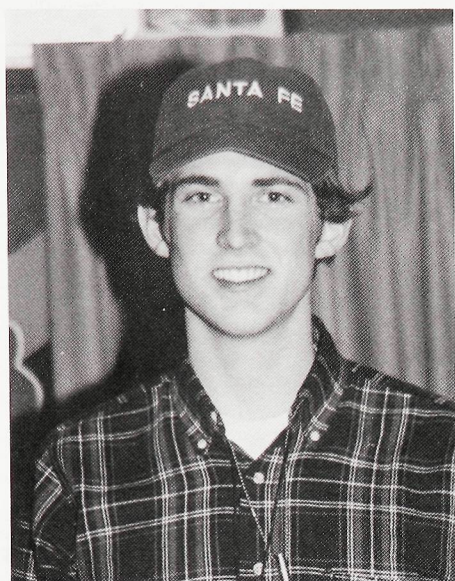

If one were to gaze beyond the hallowed doors of McNaughton this is what you would see: Neal is grinning from ear to ear. Chus and John Partridge are enjoying the "Fresh air." Brendan is romancing Marissa over at Glass, and Charles is playing with his imaginary friends, Lawrence is taking a shower - Not! and Won-Jae is drinking his milk. Rahim is busy changing room-mates and Philippe is snoring in chapel. Alvaro is hanging out at the Lion and Sam is playing his computer. Haskan is talking to Mr. Ross and Christian Veillette - who's he? Tommy is on the couch with Lisa and Louis Moss is with Kebe at Grier South. Samir is teaching Haskan to behave and Doug Sangster is at the bank. Pok-Man is blow-drying his hair and Aaron is watching all those basketball games. Richard is watching hockey and Simon is hoping to play a hockey game this season. Luc is rolling around naked in the American flag and Sami Fanza is changing his bed sheets again. Louis Hong, Shih-Han and Marktin are begging for owed tuck credit and Christian Allison isn't talking. Frank is doing . . . well whatever Frank does and Steve's crying over the "No Credit" rule. Chris Nash is still looking for his rings and Jackson is experimenting with hair dyes, Ralph is playing the bagpipes and Andy is printing everyone's work. Henry is being squashed by Liz and Marwan is farting in bed. Byron is busy giring laps while Ben is fighting Jackson. Mohammed has lost his credit card number again and John Deherty -is he back yet?

And now to the house parents:

Mr. Brass and Mr. Detchon are enjoying a breathe of "Fresh Air" with John and Chus. Glenn is busy kicking the s . . . out of us and Brian is watching football on T.V. Mrs. Williams is cutting cheesy hair and Mr. Williams out buying a toupee.

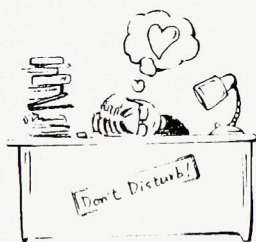

And that concludes our journey through McNaughton house.

Fourth Row: A. Pulgar, M. Alghussein, S. Chen, L. Hong, C. Veillette, A. Kozlowski, S. Houle, N. Young, W-J. Lee, J. Ulled, S. Jafferali, B. Quigley, B. James, H. Cho

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF ROSS BOYS

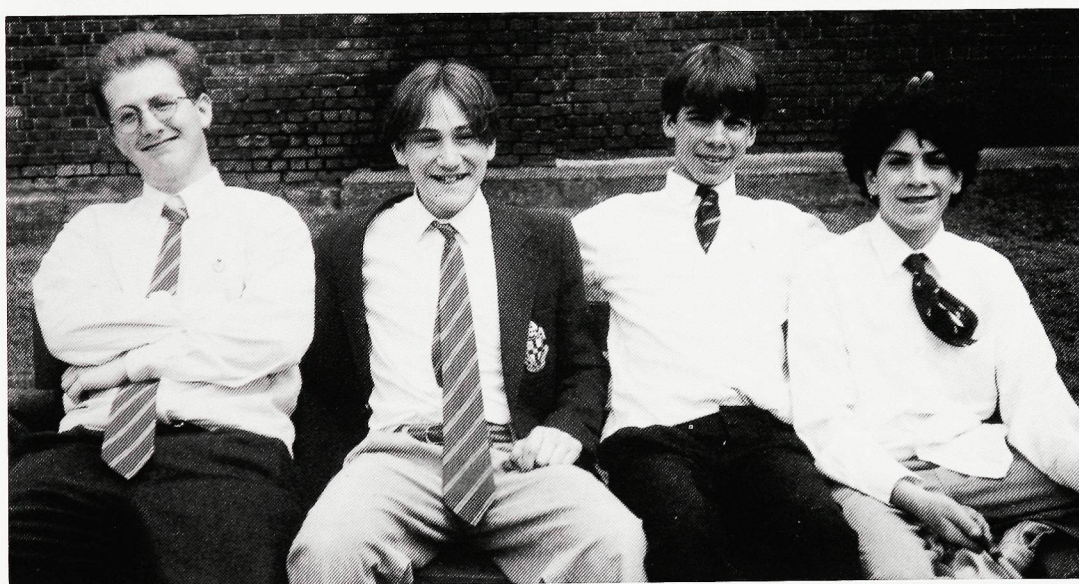

Jacob, Mykel and Scott got neutered to keep their soprano voices
Louis-Philippe blew chunks
Daniel noticed a funny smell in the common room
Cliffy dyed his hair and joined Slayer
Maxime tested HIV positive
Sebastien got beat up for sassing the wrong guy
Allan got lost in the weight room
Michael got his mouth soaped
Marco kicked Rad's butt
Dana opened a "You put weed in it" shop
Calile - Nice shades! Not!
Daniel turned sideways and disappeared
Doug changed his name to Chris
Loic stole Jerry's jeans
Peter, Lewis, and Frank were late for chapel
Rad got his butt kicked by a 6'5" B.U. student (he says)
Jean-Thomas and Glenn - "Last time, really!" NOT!
André-Philippe combed his hair and found his missing pencil.

Special thanks to Dina from the house captains for special favours.

Second Row: C. Williams, C. Haddad, S. Gregoire, M. Descoteaux, D. Bradley, M. Holland, L-P. Gagnon, A. Haddad, D. Nerenberg, Mr. C. Goodwin
Third Row: J-T. Hardy, G. Loney, A-P. Hardy, P. Cassar, D. Williams, F. Gregoire, L. Evans

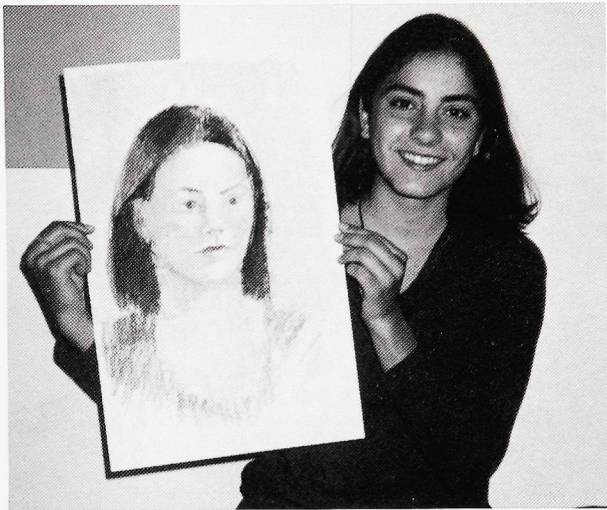

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF ROSS GIRLS

It's 7:50 am and Shelley is trying to conceal her hickey while Dina fixes her hair for the 40th time . . . Perfect. The bell rings and all (well, at least most) of us go to chapel. Kirsty frantically looks for P.C., but he's nowhere to be found! 7:55 am and Marie-Christine and Caroline stroll into chapel . . . late again! Everyone starts singing and Natanya makes an entrance under the stern eye of Mrs. Goodwin. Prayer time and Janet and Marie-Claude keep an eye on McNaughton House as Emily E. and Kristen are busted for talking. First bell rings and Anabel's late for class again . . . sorry sir, forgot my prep, but who notices 'cause Sarah and Luc are back together! Krystyna is off for another debating tournament - who knows where this time? - as Sadie practices her debating skills with John D. over women's issues. Lunch time finally arrives and Lara's laugh is heard over all dining hall conversations while Niki is rushed out after having O.D.'d on chocolate sauce. Valerie finally realizes that Ross House rules! Classes go by without a hitch, and Steph gets ready to ski to a first place finish. Emily M. gets in her car to drive home and we all pray that she doesn't have an accident. Elina rushes to the library for her date and Amanda and Anne tune up their guitars in preparation for an assembly hall concert. Meanwhile, Tessa rushes to North to move into her new room . . . Just another day in the life of Ross girls.

First Row: J. Cassar, M-C. Lecours, C. Gregoire, M-C. Mercier, L. Jelowicki, E. Evans, S. Cote, E. Brobeck.

Second Row: K. Bevan, Mrs. P. Goodwin, A. Pinero, D. Nelson, N. Elias, N. Nerenberg, T. Jelowicki, K. Kouri, Absent: K. Marosi, A. Kantardjieff, A. Loney, S. Barlow, E. Marosi, S. Greer.

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF SMITH HOUSE

Not only does Sacha scream for us to wake up, but surprise, so does our friend, Mr. Mortimer who never sleeps. The only one already awake since then is our "early to bed, early to rise" Sean. We soon roll into action and Matt Moss has already started flexing in the downstairs bathroom. After sapping our hot water, Derek emerges from a forty minute shower, whining about shower worms. Jon Coad has missed everything, because he has just sauntered out of his room, sporting the latest in men's dressing gowns. Because of the late nights doing who-knows-what, Kee-Ho has already started on the caffeine, and loud music. In a spontaneous burst for the doorway, everyone in the house heads for the Mort-Mobile; a 1942 pick up truck that can't make it past first gear.

Everyone that is, except for André, who is still taking his morning cologne swim. The day is uneventful till morning chapel, when Oliver stands up for the Prefect announcements, unaware of his unzipped fly. As the school proceeds with the descent of chapel stairs, Sameer brightens up the day by accidentally tripping into Steph, knocking Mr. Jackson off-balance (sending his pants down a few inches). Luckily Patrick Chan is there to exercise his wardenship, and prevent Mr. Jackson from cracking a bad joke about the situation. The rest of the day drifts by slowly until 3:01, when Faruk is found at the helm of the remote control (what a surprise . . .). Ramzi has already gathered a crowd as he tells of his latest female encounter, and everyone is jealous, except Pascal, because he has apparently "done better". Crease and dinner come and go, and back at the ranch, Glen is settling down for an evening of football and birdchirping. However, Mr. Knell throws him out for coming on the wrong duty night, and then kicks back with a pile of math tests. Nobody has seen Guillaume, he is apparently sacrificing poultry to the background music of "Cannibal corpse". A house meeting is called, and before Mrs. Mortimer can even begin with the birthday cake, Chris Winkel has already started his whine list (his interruptions now total 386). Ramzi's one concern: "Don't we get any money back?". But no, we don't, and life goes on. As prep commences, Kent sneaks down for a suspicious bowl of rice. John Redpath, Oliver and Pascal are climbing the walls, the ceiling, the hallways, the . . . Nicole Mortimer bursts into the house, looking for Sacha and stumbles upon Matt Cassils. His only solution: get out the Louisville slugger. Prep finishes, and lights out is called. Chris Jackson takes his routine "I'm brushing my teeth" walk, but is intercepted by Rod, who clotheslines him, and nails him to the ground. But Patrick Cheung comes to Chris's rescue, lifting Rod over his head, and throwing him down. As Rod gets up, he notices Kuniaki (CRAZY BOB!!!) in the bathroom doing his hair. The day draws to a close.

Everyone has fallen asleep, but are startled by the bright lights. People dash to their windows to see a floodlit frontyard and hear sirens blaring. Greg has been caught sneaking to Sherbrooke by none other than the Morti Alarm system. "GOOD NIGHT, GENTLEMEN!"

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF WILLIAMS HOUSE

Williams started packed in September,
We got rid of two,
And were empty by December.
Karen walked the Gillard way,
Kenra looked out the window all day,
Marie-Helen said, "Can I have some?"
Mme St-Jacques said,
"Because of chapel, you'll all be running one."
Sarah said "Fine, I'm in great shape,"
"After all, Lucy gave me eight."
At 6:55 Mrs. J. sang "GOOD MORNING GIRLS!"
Nathalie put her hair in curls,
Melanie Greffard got out her skates,
Liz sat downstairs watching TV with her mate,
Emily upstairs with her stereo booming,
Lisa walking around with her science book, glooming,
Melanie Giguere is talking on the phone,
Nancy I guess as usual went home.
Elisabeth and Anita went to bed early,
Pascale and Maryam got a lap for their room being dirty.
Late that night Tany and Sam became hosts,
To something we've begun calling Casper the Ghost.
So there you have an average day,
We hope you all don't get scared away.

BAND

Okay . . . The music department as we know it. The junior band, primarily made up of the second and third forms, is conducted ever so wonderfully by Mr. Waltby. Everyone's comment is how terrific they are sounding this year, and they are right! We've also got a senior band and a stage band. These are conducted by our own Mr. Jackson. Every year, we fret and worry about how it's all going to come together. Somehow, it does. Members graduate and the upcoming forms fill the chairs. And fill they did this year! It has been a fantastic year! Our musicians have fabulous energy! Without the interest, energy and willingness to tolerate Mr. J. and his tantrums . . . where is this going anyway? A great big "remercie" to everyone who helped make this another dynamite year in the Music department!

Headed up by Stephanie Jessop, the Dining Hall Committee consisted of twenty people this year. What with late-running creases, away games, lunch hour meetings and just trying to remember when they were on duty, the committee had quite a challenging time getting the job done. However, with phrases like "Whose turn is it to do the cutlery?", "Sent in", and "Get behind the line or you're not going up", they managed to have the dining hall running smoothly, to keep people happy and to pull the job off incredibly well.

BCS has been a part of Amnesty International for several years, gathering on a weekly basis. The group writes letters and sends petitions to countries as far away as Singapore, Libya and Africa urging officials to ensure justice is served. We also fundraise through the annual sale of t-shirts and with bake sales and penny donations. The profits aid in the publication of the AI newsletter and other information.

Being a warden requires two things: commitment and a smile. Every morning at 7:40 the wardens are there unlock-ing doors, turning on lights, putting up hymn numbers and, most importantly, wel-comeing the school to Chapel. The wardens are always there behind the scenes doing their best to ensure that everything runs smoothly.

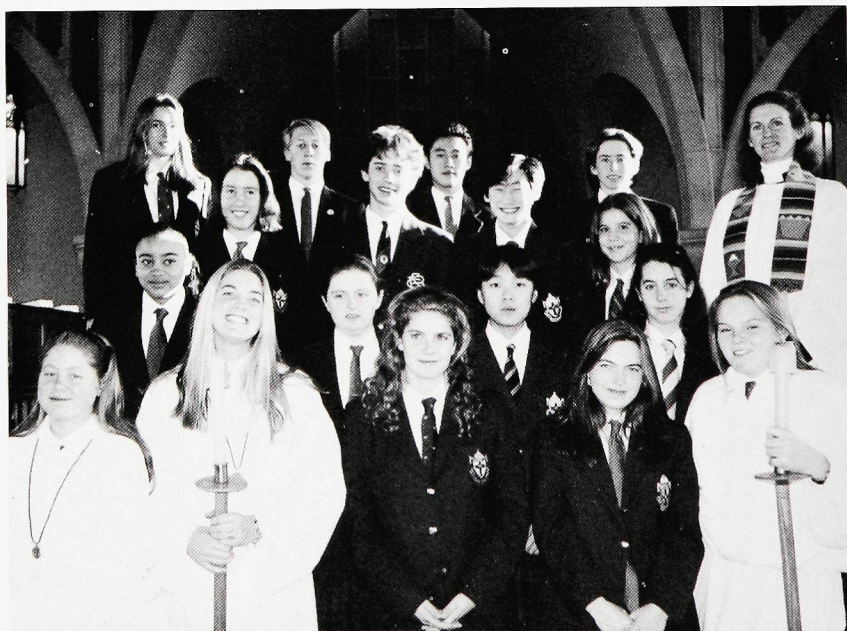

This year brought together a large group of wardens who were all very enthusiastic. Some mornings it was a race to see who could get to chapel first. Hopefully we all did our best to get everyone's day off to a good start.

From leading the proces-sion into Friday chapel car-rying the cross and candles to receiving collections, the servers were Mrs. Pea-cock's little band of white-gowned angelic helpers. Servers help with the run-ning of the service; they support Mrs. Peacock in her job; and they set the ex-ample for the rest of the school.

SUPPLY SHOP

First Row: C-C. Goh, Mrs. M. Rand, K. Yokoi, P. Chan, K. Chen, F. Chen Absent: E. Miller

The Supply Shop is the on-campus store where students can get most of their everyday personal, health and athletic items as well as stationary and class supplies.

Those fun-filled days as Supply Shop assistants will be remembered fondly! A pioneering group they were! Suggestion boxes, service with a smile - they had all the prerequisites for a McDonald's worker. Heck, they had their futures mapped out for them. Thanks to Mrs. Rand for an interesting and fun experience.

ROUND SQUARE

Most of our work this year was dedicated to fundraising, firstly for Amos Ochieng, our sponsored student at the Starehe School in Nairobi, and secondly for the Round Square BMW challenge in which all schools in the Round Square are challenged to raise as much money as possible and the school which raises the most wins a BMW car for their own fundraising purposes. We have organised a sponsored marathon walk and a Spring Fair and also we have collected pennies, and cans for recycling. Here's hoping we win the car!

It's Thursday at 3:30 and who's at Inscape? Slowly but surely the team gathers.

By 3:31, most of the tired but inspired (sometimes) group has assembled.

Louis is in the corner of the room, absorbed in another masterpiece. Chor Chiat continues on her rock fest, and Emma tries to stay awake. Simon and Yip, his disciple, make the computer quack, as Krystyna and Albert analyse French poetry. Katharine struggles with Mrs. Evans over layout, while Mrs. Evans gives Naoya another drawing to do ("Whaaat?"). Natanya remains lost in her own world (which witch is which?).

As 5:30 draws near, all that creative energy has been used up, and the tired bodies sift out, to spend the rest of the week in search of brilliant ideas for the next week.

INSCAPE

First Row: S. Greer, K. Kouri, C-C. Goh, K. Cross Second Row: N. Nerenberg, N. Kawata, Mrs. C. Evans, F. Hanitijo, A. Barsoski, E. Cross, L. Hong, Y. Wong, P. Gellrich Absent: Emma Miller, A. Photiou

Thursday afternoon, 3:30, Room 312. Who are those twelve people knee-deep in photographs, lists, orange pencils and layout sheets? The Yearbook staff, of course! With Linda as editor and artist-in-residence and a dedicated group willing to work until 6:00, the 128 page book of memories gets done right on schedule.

GREEN GROUP

First Row: F. Wu, E. McLean, A. Haddad, E. Hung, L. Lam Second Row: J. Doyon, Mr. V. Maltby, M. Greffard, L. Gray-Donald, S. Houle, B. Yip

The Green Group is the BCS environmental group under the leadership of Mr. Maltby. It meets every Thursday afternoon as a cadet activity. The group strives to make the BCS community more environmentally aware through activities such as paper recycling, an energy saving day, Earth Day activities and the development of a nature trail on the campus.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

First Row: K. Marosi, E. Evans, M. Barsoski, S. Wang Second Row: Mrs. P. Peacock, S. Smith, K. Bevan, F. Sheriff

The number of students doing Community Services this year is small, but what we lack in numbers is made up by quality and commitment. The students who are doing community services enjoy doing it and do it well. Half the group visits elderly friends in Grace Christian Home, one person goes to d'Youville Hospital and the others visit friends in their homes in Lennoxville. Too often young people do not have a chance to get to know older people and consequently they often think older people are boring. The group doing community services has discovered that older people are anything but boring. On the contrary, they have discovered that older people are very wise and they have wonderful stories to tell; this is why they enjoy going back to visit them week after week.

BISH BIZ

First Row: Lucy Gray-Donald, Tessa Jelowicki, Krystyna Kouri Absent: Sean Hutchman, Sarah Greer

A small band of would-be journalists worked on Bish Biz this year. We tried to publish a column in the Record at least once a month with news of academics, sports, special events and other interesting BCS news.

DEBATING

First Row: S. Walters, T. Jelowicki, E. Evans, Mr. A. MacDonald
Second Row: M. Moss, K. Kouri, C. Winkel, S. Hutchman

The chapel bell rings as Sean finds yet another excuse to miss an Agora meeting - "Can't leave Elina!". Sandy's late for first class - she is still contemplating her pre-prov results . . . Kristen meets Emily at break - "Who cares about the resolution - let's go to McDonald's!" M.C. has not recovered . . . Kit-Kat anyone! Lunchtime arrives and the A Team's bags are packed. Chris brings a copy of "Warp" since no one knows what really goes on at Grenville. Krystyna is pensive - "I went to LCC and all I got was a Pin-ball!" Red towels will not be forgotten. Last class bell. Matthieu dumps his books for yet another swim meet, while Christine screeches "Kodak look at meee!" Altogether a very stellar day for Agora (car radio . . . ala-lala-lalonde . . .)

ROUND SQUARE STUDENTS GROUP

First Row: T. Jelowicki, J. Glover, E. Morad, N. Goldman, M. Cassils Second Row: A. Pickard, K. Koll, B. Culmer, J. Partridge, S. Somji Third Row: C. Winkel, L. Gray-Donald, C. Faucher, E. Marosi, S. Jessop Fourth Row: C. Jackson, D. Nelson

The Student Round Square Group started up this year after the Rannoch Conference in September. Many students have benefitted from his group by learning more about the Round Square and by taking part in various activities including a campus clean-up and a trip to Ottawa for our exchange students. We hope this group will continue successfully in the coming years.

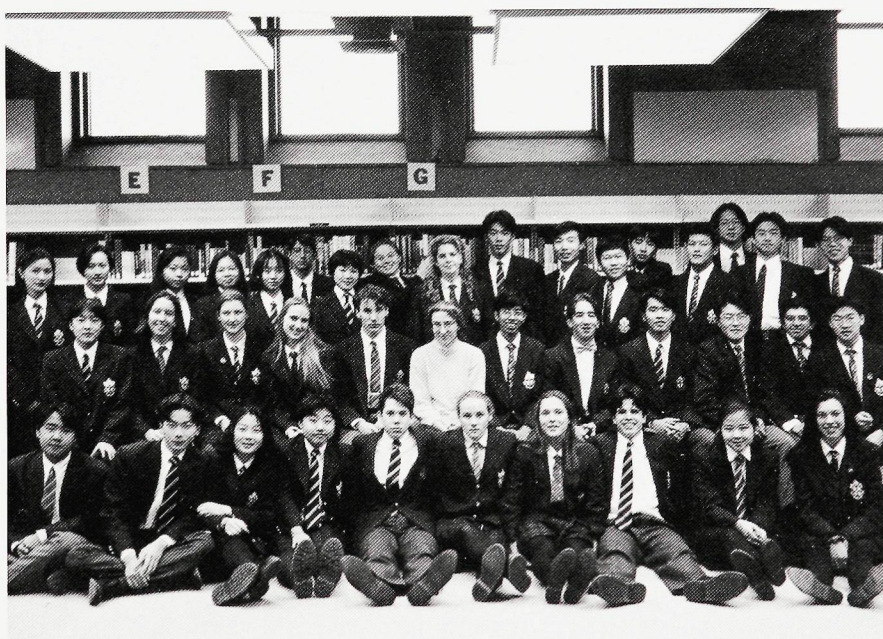

St. Martin's Chapel choir had a busy year. Under the direction of Mrs. Rahn, they provided leadership for hymn singing at the daily chapel service. The Christmas Carol Service was successful; the choir sang special music for the season. In January, the Peacocks opened their home for a winter party. After Christmas there was an influx of second formers. Bravo! The choir sang at both the Christmas and Spring band concerts. In April, they hosted the 33 voice choir from Deerfield, New Hampshire and sang a joint concert. In May, the choir travelled to Quebec City to sing at the confirmation service of two BCS students. The choir's last function of the year was to sing at the closing services in May and in June.

First Row: Mrs. N. Rahn, K. Cross, S. Greer, M. Greffard, S. Walters, E. McLean, E. Evans, T. Jelowicki, Ms. Stroud Second Row: E. Hung, F. Wu, S. Wang, L. Wu Third Row: A. Loney, C. Wang, K. Chen, F. Chen, L. Chen Fourth Row: J. Wong, W-S Lee, L. Lam, C. Gheorghe, A. Kantardjieff, A. Barsoski Fifth Row: Mrs. P. Peacock, M. Su, L. Delany, B. Hong, S. Jafferli, M. Cassils, C. Jackson, K-H. Suh, Y-C. Lu, J. Biron, S. Hutchman, Mr. C. Peacock, T. Bradford, S. Chowdhury

This year, for the first time within memory, students were permitted to work in the library for a Cadet activity. Mathieu Brodeur, Caroline Gregoire, and Marie-Christine Mercier spent time on Thursday afternoons helping the library staff to keep the library running efficiently and looking good. Bishop's College School has an unusually large book collection for a school of its size, so the library staff is always looking for people to help maintain the stacks. The three people who helped out this year turned out to be terrific shelveers, and over the year they returned hundreds of books to their correct place on the shelves. Each of the students also worked on other projects, including a computer indexing program, book maintenance and repair work, and management of the information file. The library benefitted from the hard work, and the students learned things about the library that they never knew before.

LIBRARIANS

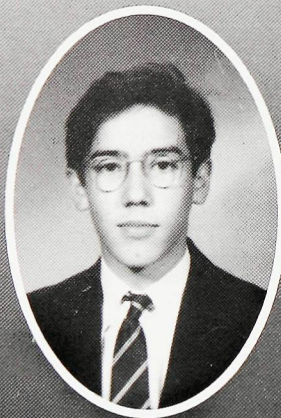

First Row: J. Chen, C. Lu, F. Chen, K. Chen, M. Moss, A. Barclay, V. Hamelin, M. Leblanc, L. Wu, C. Dangoisse Second Row: L. Chen, R. Black, K. Cross, J. Glover, J. Biron, Ms. B. Reed, S. Chowdhury, P. Gellrich, B. Hong, W-J. Lee, A. Photiou, S-H. Lin Third Row: S. Wang, C. Wang, F. Wu, L. Lam, E. Hung, S. Jafferli, C-C. Goh, L. Gray-Donald, D. Nelson, Y-C. Lu, M. Su, Y-L Wong, L. DOMINIQUE BROWN

How art thou Domanetheus? We all know u still love Kristina, "Just relax and go crazy!" Yeah, eh! Don't forget to send out more post cards. Watch out for Lisa's Dad! Let's go skip some stones. I almost hit a bird! Katmandu - Vic - Vodka - machete - Does this bring back memories? Do your ribs still hurt? Maybe you'll make house captain next year eh! Oh, by the way: ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ! Best wishes and good luck from all your friends At BCS. From: Tommy, Iannuzzi and Nip in the air!

HENRY CHO

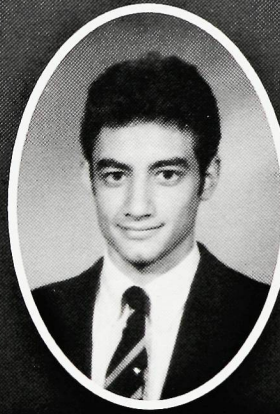

Da Guje, let's go to Liz's apartment! Let's go to yours and shoot people, gotta go. Shotgun! What? Ouch. Can you say antisestablishmentarianism, eh! Get some control over your chick! You're whipped big time. Eco class - peep show from a couple of buddies! Out the window at 11:00! I can flick further than U! What does Major Turner call you? Will our new dad ever go to bed? Tabaquita time! Gee do you sleep a lot U narcoleptic heart diseased nip! From: Tommy, Iannuzzi and Domanetheus.

PATRICK CHAN

Another year has passed. With all the cofee that you have drunk from the beginning of the year, you could probably open a coffee shop. Are you taking late lights again? I'm going to bed now. Don't forget to wake me up later. Anyway, we had a really good time at BCS. Thanks for your help. Good luck in years to come.

ABDALLAH DANDACHI

What did you tell him? I told him his wife was a ---. No! Yeah! You know the rest. Honestly, I have no clue. There was this kid once, he spilt A535 on himself (ouch!) and they had to take him to the hospital. Oh and by the way, Abdul, you're my idol, you will always be my special, special, special friend. KID! Q In two years, you gave me morality, I gave you immorality. Look what happened with R, oh I guess I can't talk eh! Bob.

LIN-LI (KATY) CHEN

Hey Katy, Our year has all of a sudden come to an end. "Did anyone help you or did you do this on your own?" We both R the only ones who really know the truth! - Sappy. I just have three things to say: 1. Remember to take your "vitamins." 2. Stress? What do you mean? I am not stressed. 3. Beware of round, ugly cushions. - MER

Katy, I leave U a pair of hiking boots 2 wear so U don't get wet! Oh by the way, you can write a cheque for the swear jar. Sapna.

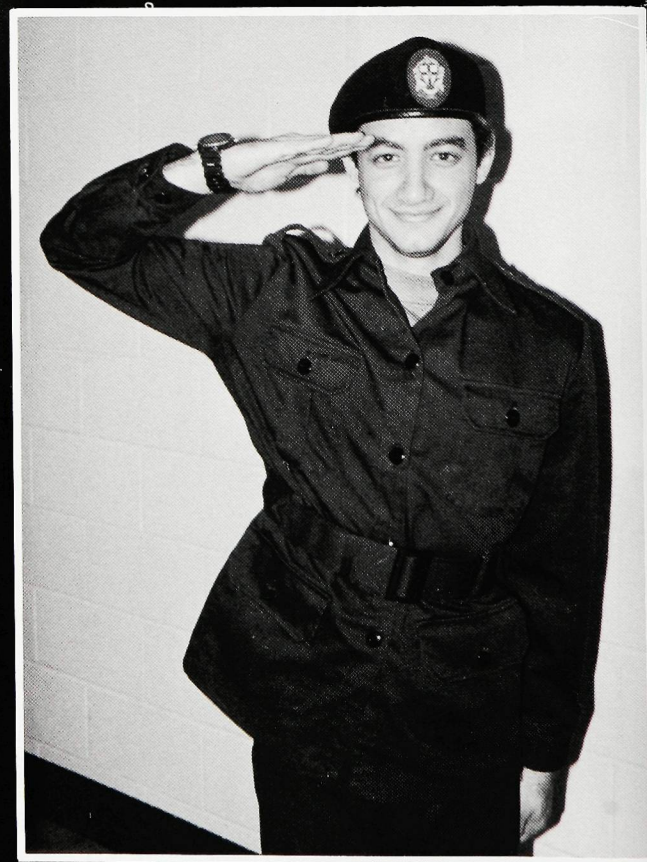

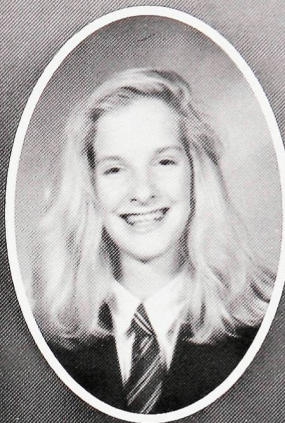

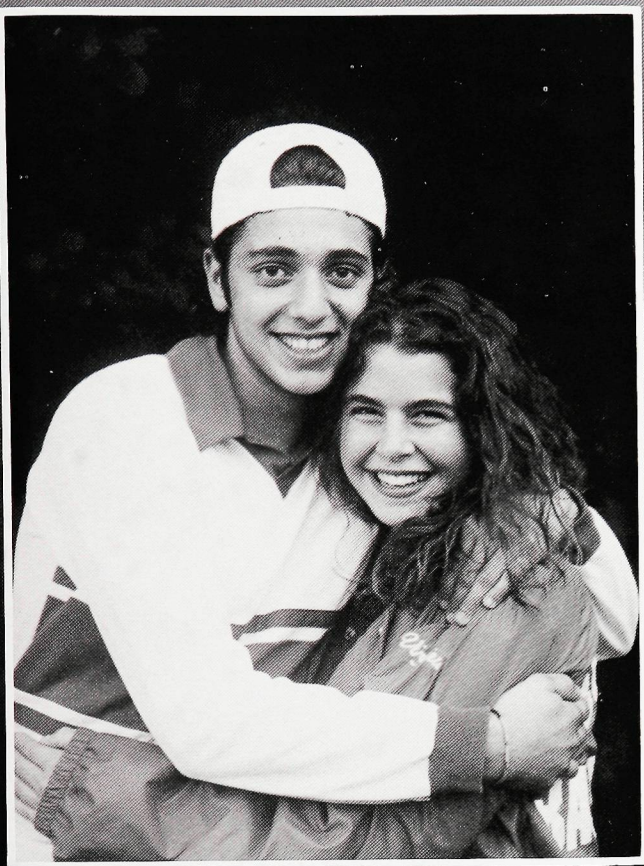

TZU-YU (FLORENCE) CHEN December 1 1993

A day to be remembered forever. I will always cherish the happy times we've spent together. The necklace will always be with me. I'll try not to forget U, OK? And please don't forget that I get jealous very easily.

Love always,

Hee! What mail? Don't worry we're all dead! Ur hair'll grow some year! Remember friends are forever!! Never forget us! Luv Bumpchies XOX

CHRISTOPHER GOTH

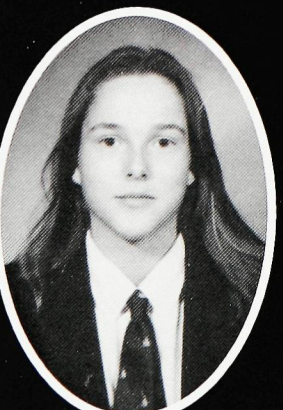

As we stand by the fan or on the window. We let it all out. After having a date with Jack, we talk about that woman with "ten" problems. We run to the amazing "G" so that I could pick up the straightest girl in school. We once decided to go to Sherbrooke so that we could break a meter long glass. So enough with all this * and let's move on in life. Live each day, don't survive it.

Dave G.

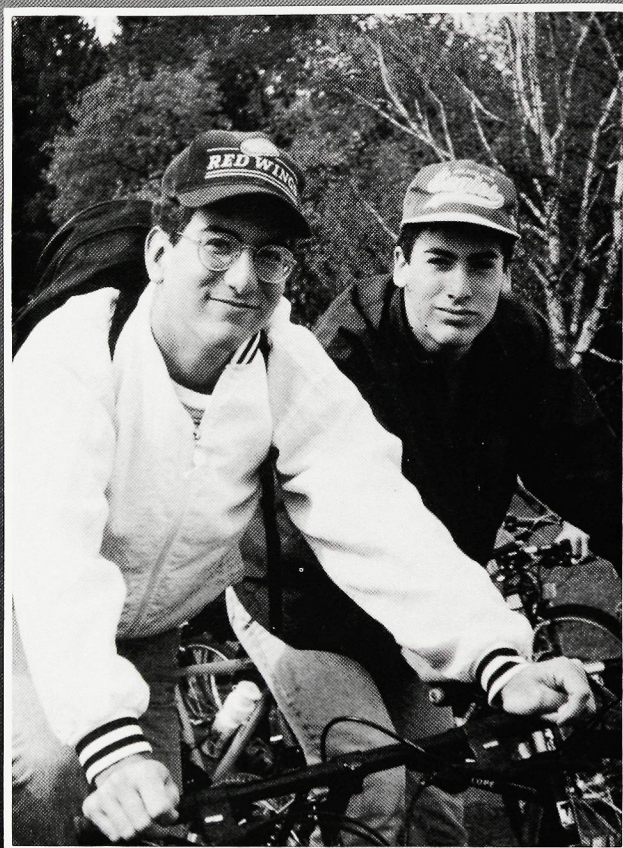

LUCY GRAY-DONALD

Duck! Look out for falling plaster. Hey stupid don't fall asleep in laundry baskets. Sop making people cry. Atila the hen! Lap time! What's that big contraption? Birthday cakes and Christmas parties! With T.P. Don't slip on the stairs. Lay off the Scotch! Get in the closet! It's not eight yet! Let's play UNO, so we can see her fly. Where's the lobster? My sash is burning. Got any food? Twenty McNuggets and a cheeseburger! Late night visits with Ghosty! Lucy in the sky . . . Love from Goof, Dude and Boug.

VIRGINIE HAMELIN

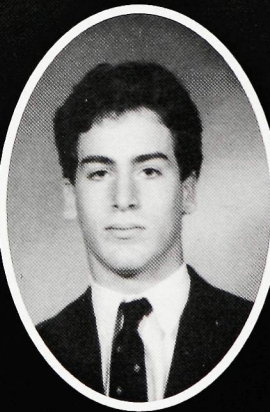

Ginnie Wabbit - When your red eyes sting and things go from bad to worse, get off the train and on to the IHP Express! We are the people our parents warned us about, but do they really know what triggers madness? We're like the dinosaurs: we sleep lengthwise in almost Heaven, West Va. The killer is in me, the killer is in you, but we can escape by pretending to die; because we're young, because we're gone. So long Marianne. Love, Mary & Amanda. P.S. Nature is a language: can't you read?

JEAN-THOMAS HARDY

Came here last year an Amosian in Smith, left this place a Ross Houser. Appetite for destruction - Aren't you sick of it yet? Referendum '93 Canadiens rule. Not! Hi! How are you Ni Hao Li Hah. Saying useless stuff is your habit. The time had passed at a very very fast speed, no velocity. Fortunately or unfortunately we're going to graduate next year. I think you will never forget the time that you had to sleep on the sofa. Anyway, I'll never forget the time at BCS. I'll always think about you and look forward to seeing your wife. Hope you'll be successful, healthy and a Buddhist monk of the century.

prime minister, I would bet his entire Playboy collection on it. Of course, he may get caught with one of his English friends in Ken-

B1o E hair and those big eyes.
Also, in the near future, if you see him walking on the street with his family of twenty, you better watch out because with you, he could've made a 21st and, of course, if he happens to make fun of you in any physical way, don't worry, he's only being friendly. Good luck

Puffer-fish are lightweight and disposable protection for larger cracks. Simply remove the spines of fifteen fish or so, and place the sea creatures in a wicker creel. On route simply pluck out a puffer, hold it in the crack and scream. Frightened, the puffer will swell, creating a secure chockstone around which you can loop a 1/2 inch ticoff. Warning: do not eat the fish afterwards, because puffers are extremely poisonous. B. Cannon

Cough, cough! Hey angel... such a deep voice 4 a little guy. That should teach u not to run with chopsticks in your mouth! So when does your Qantas flight leave? Are you going via NY? We deserve A's 4 all the notes we wrote. Don't u worry we'll get 2 the florist before dark. 21? Development? How's your shingsenhua? As good as mine? Mushroom soup. Come see me in the convent when u get your permit. Remember my theory and smile. Take care & be good & duck it. Love your friend & pickpocket always, Lucy P.S. Fine!

KEE HO SUH

Mon cher Kee Ho ta finalement fini de travailler. Well after those many late late nights and gallons of soup you have finally, hopefully graduated. By the way, what did you work on? How many hours of sleep did you get this year? It shouldn't be that hard to remember a single digit number. But in all seriousness, if you stop throwing fits & busting people's arms, you will succeed in the future. Relax and have fun. MCM

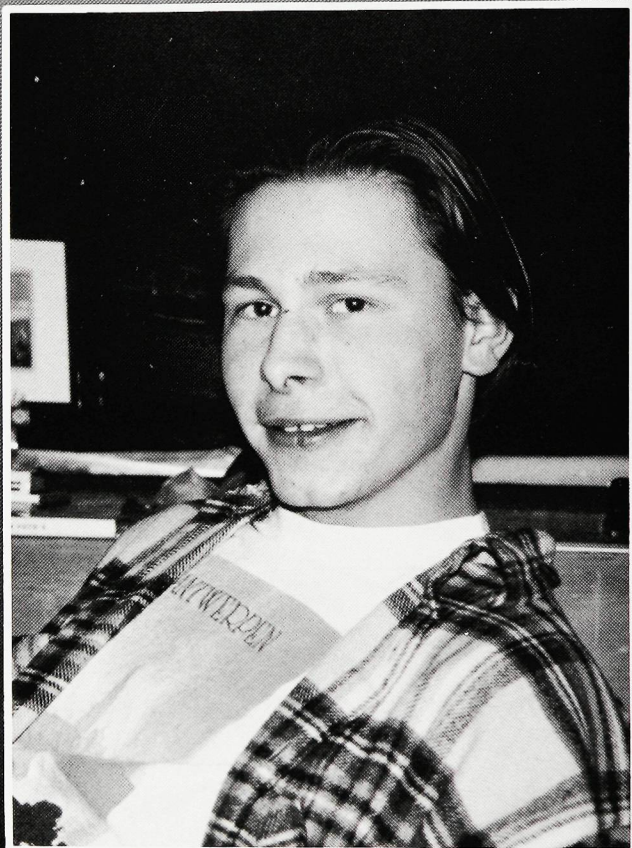

RICHARD VERVOORDT

Look, it's the NHL prospect, not! Every weekend we would go crazy in SHERB, but he never got busted. All he did in football was block or let defence sack our quarterback. He seems like a ruff 'n tuff player but really he's a wimp. Hockey is his sport, best goalie in the league but what about his defencemen? He'll block any shot and stuff you on a breakaway. It wasn't a bad year, was it? Even if you got a bit crazy, you were still a cool guy and a great friend. See you on the ice, if I ever learn to skate. P.S. No CHECKING! SWISH

YUN-LING (CHRIS) WANG

Nickname: Chocolate milk. Ambition: President of Taiwan. Advice: Stop overdosing on McNuggets. Probable fate: Incorporated worldwide KFC, St. Hubert and other poulet restaurants into "Chicken Forever" Canada Inc. Favourite Saying: "Gann ma" (Followed by an inexplicably funny look). It is that time when we rejoice, laugh, feast, sing and be glad of our friendship. Be back in 10. Take great care of yourself!! From all those who love McNuggets.

THYS-JAN WITTE

Nickname: Big Belly Dutch Bwoy, stomach full a red stripe. Him dream to drive a super mini, just don't forget to put in a set. Ambition: to fly for Air Jamaica. Nuff respect doe from Paddy and the yard massive. PS - when you getting deported? The youth with a crazy laugh and a messed up smile but a freaky personality. Go back home with the same smile! Matt forever! Hey M. Junior have a wicked year. Don't forget the Rothman's HAM Bomboclat Star Moonshine Rass shot the Batty Boys! Shaid, zeen!

YIP LING WONG

Hey yo Yipper Snapper, Mr. Tuck master! What do you mean no credit? OK, OK calm down, I didn't touch your computer. So where's your babe man? Heard you're pumping iron, buddy! So how many nineties on the card? Hey I can't go out tonight, go down to T.T. for me. I hope you do well in life, just don't become a banker, you never lend anybody money! Simon. Yo Yip, it is moi, your old roo-mie! So do my Bio for me? Calm down, I didn't touch the computer! Seriously, man, we gotta go drinking! TJ

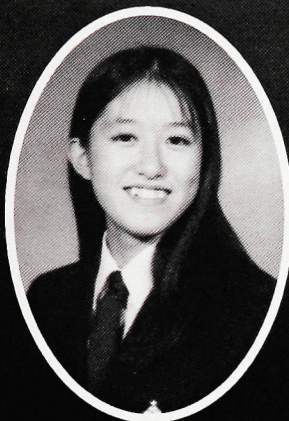

FANG-YI (FANNY) WU

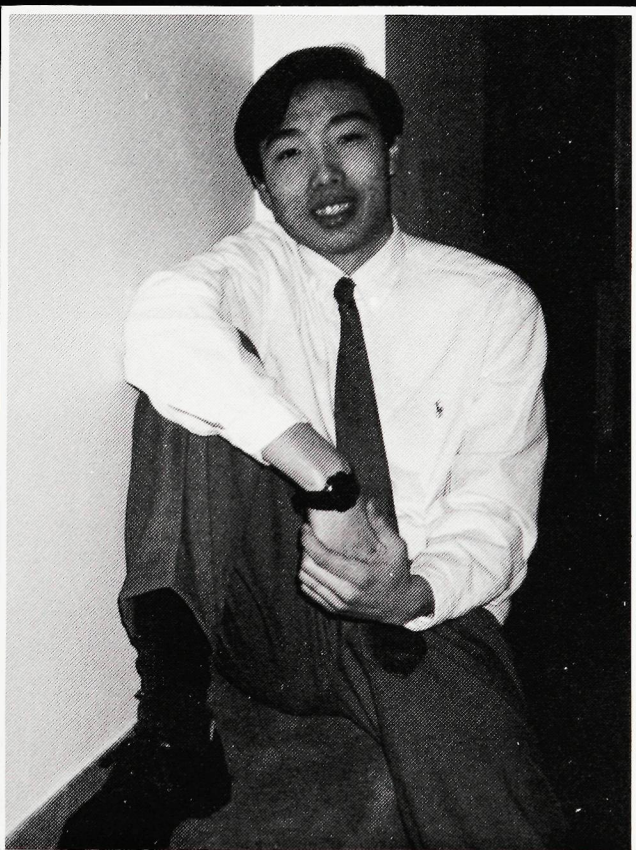

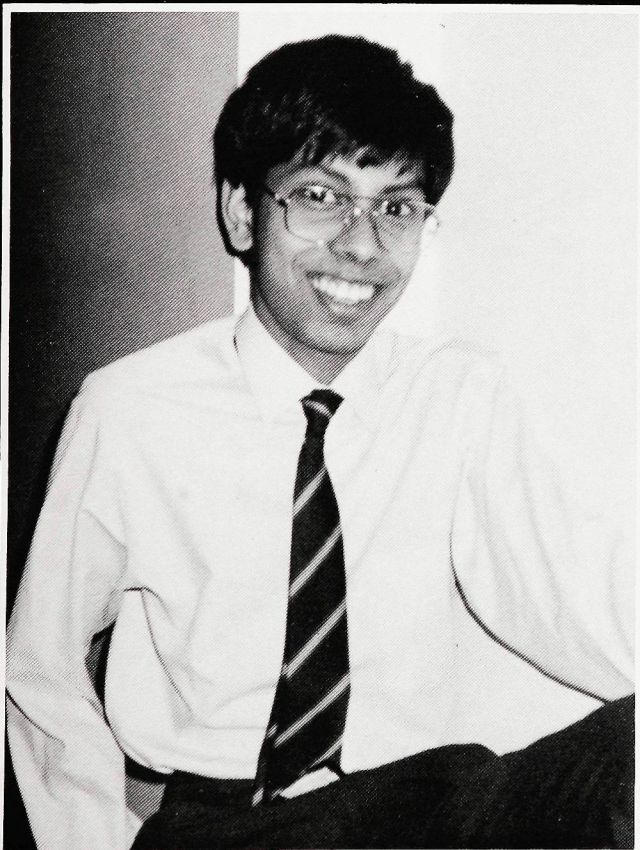

When you see Fanny walking on the campus, you may think she is an unhappy girl because she is always frowning. Don't worry, she is just thinking about the difficult calculus and physics problems. Unfortunately, her simple brain always tries to make everything difficult!

When you pass by the piano room, somebody is heating up the piano. That's her for sure.

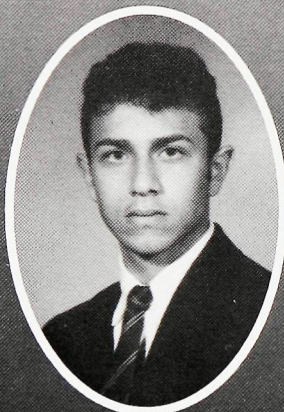

KAORI YOKOI

Our friend, made in Japan! Don't lose that smile! Stop whining and act your age! Whoa, what's that smell? Noodles again?! Don't mind us we know those comics are more important! Finished the sweater yet?! We're waiting! Snap with D.! "Why?" (wake-up)  K U ring! ring! Tuck anyway? Diet starts tomorrow (not!) Going back to Japan! We'll miss u!! (Don't forget we need mail!) Hee! hee! We love you and all ur crooked bones!! Friends forever!!! Luv, Bumpchies!!! Hee!

SAPNA ACHARYA

Sappy, the girl of the month . . . wait have u moved into the common room. Five celery sticks or none "G". Where is your vest? Probably you will get it by the end of the year. Don't worry, eco . . . we sit next to each other. Diet . . . not, los amigos are puerquitos. BCS is great, the only thing you need is a maid. Runaway, having an Oreo ice cream but look, she is looking for us. Great break. Well Sappy, great friendship . . . Friends for life and remember, I'm coming to the wedding. Sappysappysappy or should I say casi-novia! Don't cry, your contact's almost in! I'd like a large sapita and a coke. Love, John.

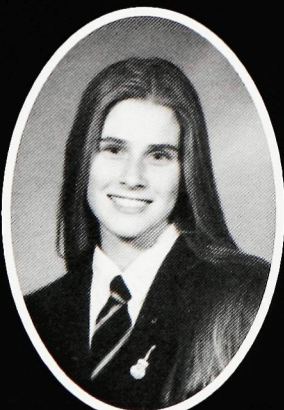

SAMIR BENDRISS

Five distinctly different boys, journeyed across the world, to unite and bond. But before this, they encountered much defeat, much failure and many beatings. From Japan travelled one, another across on a long ship, while the others ventured up the treacherous banks of the St. Lawrence, travelling from as far as Ottawa, Hudson and Sutton. Oh, how young and barbaric were these seasoned travellers. Defeat after defeat, they stumbled onwards through a life of great change.
(. . . Bradford . . .)

MOHAMMED ALGHUSSEIN

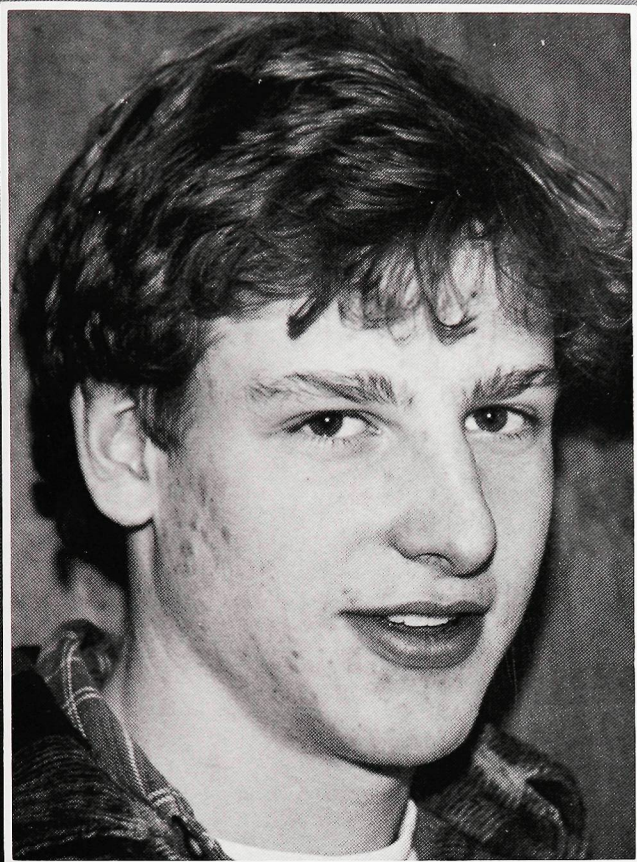

My year at BCS was a great one - not - Mo you promised me a rose, not just any rose Lucifer - J.D. is just too cool and Chus' mom makes the best gruel. The fridge in Rm. 15 is always full of good food, ready for 3:00 study sessions with the boys 'n the hood! Guess who's watching TV? Ren Ren and Abdullah what a great couple they were he and Robin! Round and round he swung her then he let her fly. Tarbelly stood in the door. John P. Batabut. A Palestinian in BCS trying to survive.

MELISSA BARSOSKI

A story of things to do 2morrow:
1. kill the hp 2. kill the heimer 3. stuff it in the bedroom 4. put pearl jam in 5. consume 6. be selfish 7. kidnap the guy 8. tell them to get ready 9. win big J. over 10. say its a go 11. eat it like a burger 12. hold the incense 13. when the guy is gone, kidnap Kurt 15. get Jenna in 16. stare at the pictures 17. kill your roommate 18. one more time to make sure 19. when your done with Kurt, kidnap Eddie (. . . Jenna . . .)

TOLLY BRADFORD

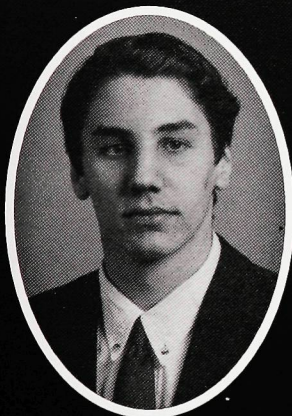

All five continued their quest and pursued a career in the next stage of life. It was nicknamed the "Pheefth phorm", a year of experimenting, rock and roll, hacking and rugby. As the confusing year wore on, we all discovered how deceiving and manipulative life could be. We adjusted to the life that we were having to live. It was a year of Chinese noodles and Kraft dinner. As the ruthless, primitive people we were, we had many Saturday nights we would never forget. (. . . Drake . . .)

MARIANA CARRANZA

You Mexicana! Keep the TV couch warm for me! Don't get too close to noneck. "Ha.he.sh.li.m" and sausage night! Friends 4 ever luv u CCG

Comment ça va? Yes! We can speak French . . . We had a great time! But I think we will do our next sausage night in your room or mine and let Chor Chiat sleep. You want to go in the gym? I don't think so! Friends 4ever! Boo! Let's kill the monster. Be careful or your bum might get flat and don't sound like a pig. Give me food now! No, of course I never sleep. UR the best Luv Your #1 Roomie.

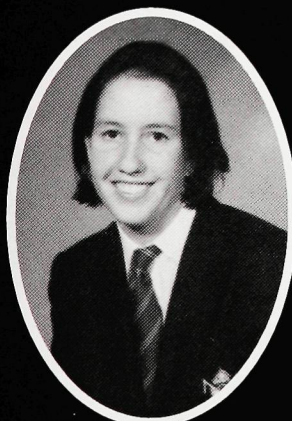

JOHN BIRON

Hey yo! It was just great having you around . . . I still don't understand you and #13. I bet you wish you had 13 noses. You should start your acting career starring for your acting debut as a mummy in "Friday the 13th". Did you say that you are going to set up "Patrick Roy Info Center". Anyway I will miss you a lot and keep in touch buddy!

W.S.L.

P.S. Change your name before Bell comes looking for you.

RACHEL BLACK

Take that look off your face, I can see through your smile. God! you look so pale. Ready for another marathon of work? Here is your number 1-800-663-7072. Oh no! This is for "Discover the Classics". Have you called it yet? What do you want to borrow? Hey babe! Take a walk on the wild side, on Bermuda beaches. Remember March break forever. You're the best roomie. Try to go to bed one night! Bonne nuit! Let's do a disco dance in our room! After we have been to the studio! AS:

We became captains of the hut (commonly referred to as house captains) and were the backbone of the dining system, following our leader . . . Colonel Kawa. We ventured into the unknown, unfortunately Greg the Gigantic was caught. We all discovered who we were, especially Samiror, who spent most of his time in front of one. Ironically, our good friend Tolly became the revered "Big T", and we never knew why! And Barnacle Bill still wishes it was aftergrad. (. . . Greg . . .)

CATHERINE DE SAINTE MARIE

Honey, remember how you scared me and came and fell in the floor. That was the first impression. Muffy, Fluffy, do you still like kangaroos or do you want a cup of tea? Spent a lot of time in the stage, working hard or . . . Anyway, I am leaving you an all-expense paid driving course in Super Dave's driving school. My treat to see "rendez vous at Mo's". How's your appetite? Have you been hungry lately? Take care and see you at Old Boys and don't wear those boots.

Part II: Sometimes I wonder how we ever made it! Lots of veggies kept us laughing, but even when the smiles were gone we stuck together. Dec 16, 1992 was our fist late-night walk across the bridge. That year held the best memories of all. Don't forget: flying tangerines at Nutty's and fried eggs after winter flings! We've come a long way since 7 Bown. Maybe if we keep pretending, it won't end - but I think we know that it already has.

And so our story draws to a close, and yet again our paths separate. Now just a memory, our times of youthful experiences passed by like soggy broccoli on the cafeteria line. One headed back to the Orient, one to the land of snow and igloos, and three coasted back down the banks of the St. Lawrence. We all arrived together and left together. There is no more to say but that the times were good; a blissful simplicity of truth, happiness and a nostalgic laugh.

SPECIAL EVENTS

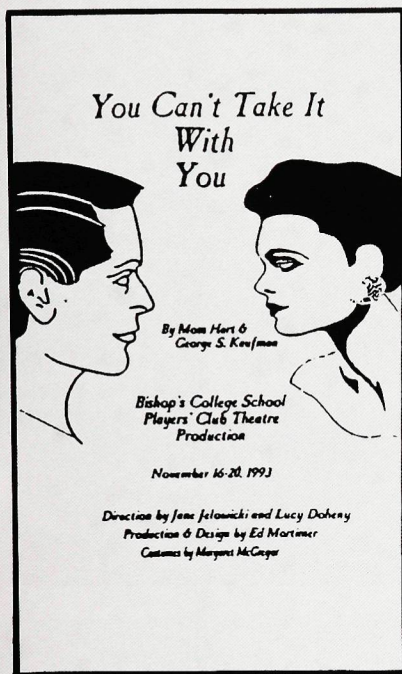

MOUNTAIN DAY

SEPTEMBER 12, 1993

The play is called You Can't Take It With You but BCS proved that you can bring them back to you - the people and the memories of yesteryear.

The directors of the play, Jane Jelowicki and Lucy Doheny, with the help of Lewis Evans, Director of Development, enticed nine members of the 1950 cast and one from the stage crew back to BCS for this production. Some of the graduates of the then boys school flew in from as far away as Toronto and Calgary and others drove in from Montreal. At the end of the Saturday night performance, the 1993 cast welcomed the ten old boys in front of a sell-out crowd.

During the play's two intermissions, many in the audience took part in two fund raising events. After the performance there was a dinner and a traditional auction.

Productions of You Can't Take It With You are a tradition at BCS which has presented the play in 1950, 1958 and 1969. The play is also in the history of Jelowicki, Doheny and Evans families. In 1950, the play was directed by Mr. Evans' father, R. Lewis Evans; in 1969, Doheny played "The Grand Duchess"; and two of Jane Jelowicki's daughters had roles in the 1993 version of the play.

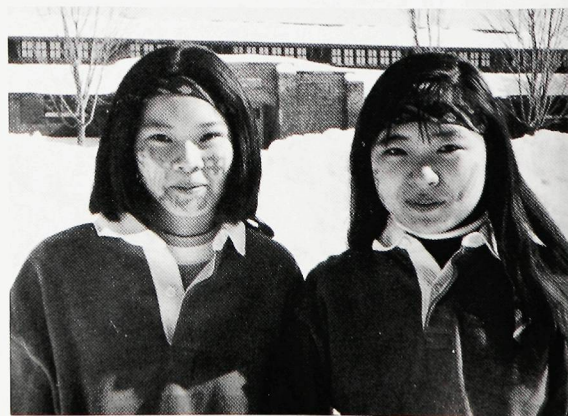

CARNIVAL '94

This year's Carnival Committee did a fantastic job of picking up everybody's spirits in a very cold, very snowy month. The theme of the Carnival was "King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table."

The Carnival Committee planned four days of activities for the whole school and they deserve high praise for their successful efforts.

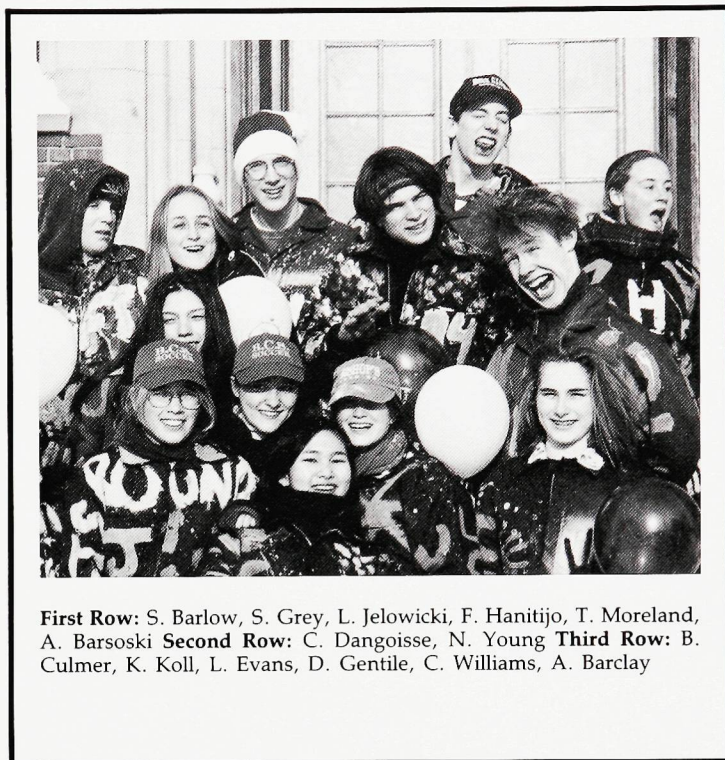

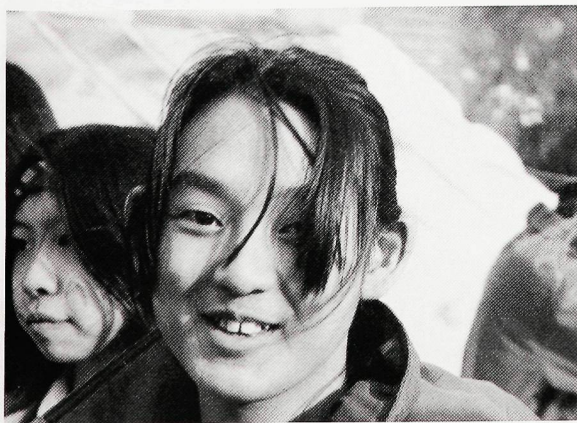

On Friday, February 25th, the annual Great Race took place after school and Carnival went into full swing. That evening four buses took students to the Sport's Junction in Omerville for sliding, skating, and go-carts on ice. All day Saturday there were outdoor sports events and, in the evening, the Carnival Ball took place in a Student Center decorated by the Carnival Committee.

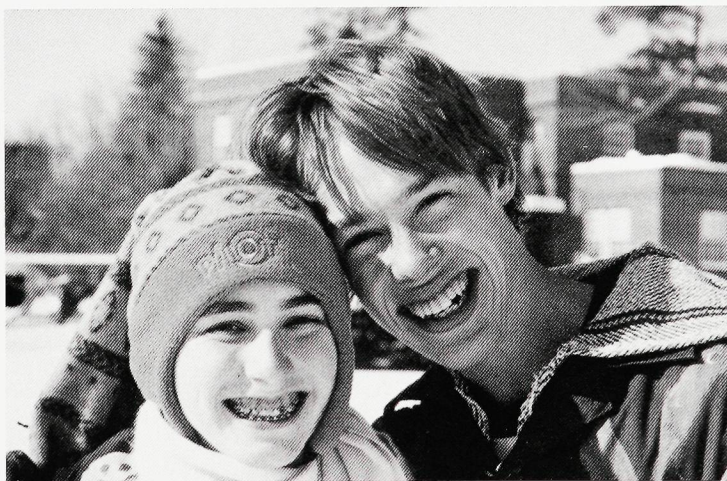

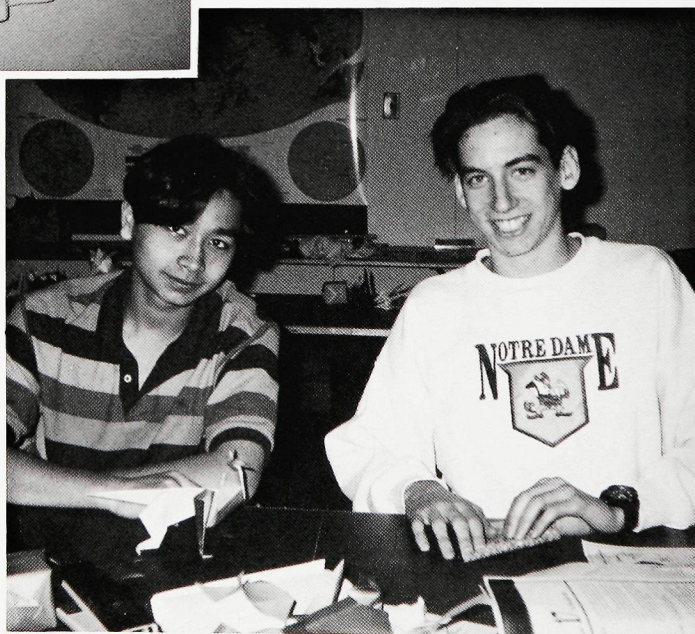

On Sunday, there were more sports and games outside, followed by the Carnival Banquet. The food at the banquet was great, featuring a 90 pound hip of beef, and white tablecloths and candles on the table. Sunday night was skit night, a competition that was won by Smith House.

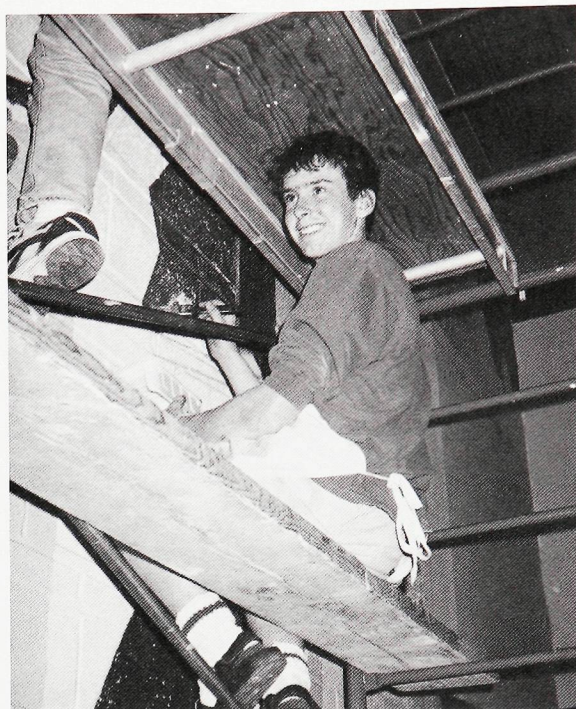

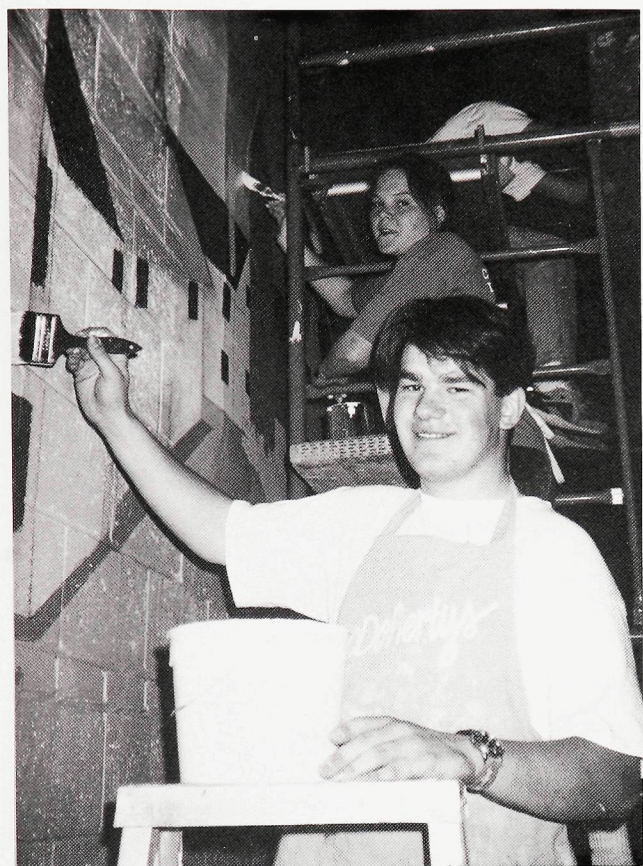

On Monday, Ski Day, five busloads of students headed out to Owl's Head for a glorious day of skiing. In the evening, the whole school met in the Theatre to watch Monty Python's "The Search for the Holy Grail" as a fitting end to the medieval weekend. The whole weekend was fun for everyone, and the Carnival crew, led by Mr. Detchon, did a tremendous job.

Memories

Feeling the clocks circle around us and twirl into a jumble of seasons,
the school year would itself slowly
into a blur of memories,
like the rust-stained handle of a Jack-in-the-Box
until the summer sprang up before us with forlorn eyes that stared into the past and what it left behind.
We heard the rolling laughter echo through the halls,
and felt the gritty, bitter-tasting dirt beneath us
on the sports fields,
and we watched,
with cherry-lipped smiles,
the snow, like the time that we had left together,
melt into tiny rivers that slithered silently away.
And we paddled,
so eagerly and anxiety-filled
through the days and weeks.
And now,
as the freedom is given to us
rolled-up and tied with a purple ribbon, we turn back and try to drown ourselves
in that memoried, molasses lake.
